Ryzex Signs O2 Partnership Agreement with TTL.

August 2007

Ryzex PLC, a technology lifecycle company, has signed an agreement with TTL, an independent O2 partner and service provider. Under the terms of the agreement TTL will be providing Ryzex' customers with cost-effective airtime for mobile voice and data services and Ryzex will be providing TTL's customers with access to a range of rugged mobile computing devices, backed by Ryzex' technology lifecycle services.

TTL supply integrated telecommunications services to the business sector, including mobile voice and data, fixed line and broadband services and telephone systems. TTL has always considered high quality of service a priority, and has recently been short-listed in the Customer Service Category for the prestigious Mobile News Awards.

As a result of the agreement, Ryzex' customers will benefit from focused and proactive customer service, competitive pricing and appropriate tariffs, regular communication, contact and review, optional online billing and an online helpdesk, with access to the full range of business telecoms services provided by TTL.

The agreement with TTL will give Ryzex a competitive commercial advantage with the ability to provide connected rugged mobile computers with relevant support and competitive airtime pricing, complementing Ryzex's Full Use® service offering.

For TTL, the agreement gives its customers access to an additional area of expertise and range of rugged mobile products provided by Ryzex.

Colin Hughes, Managing Director for Ryzex comments "We are extremely pleased with this partnership. The ability to offer cost-effective airtime to our clients gives us a competitive edge and expands our already comprehensive service offering."
